

12-2002 [A-1342] Excalibur - Boris 5

Now that I have recently made an overview of almost all Excalibur chess computers, I also came across this Boris 5 again. What I wonder is whether this model has ever appeared on the commercial market, because I do not find this chess computer at any collector's, nor when you google it! In December 2002, this model was on the Excalibur website as you can see below. If someone does own this chess computer, he may of course be very careful with it. Boris 5 has the same design casing as the Excalibur Alexandra, Crusader and Saber III. Has Boris 5 ever been reincarnated into one of these models? Who knows, may say!

Talks in 5 languages! English, Spanish, French, Italian & German. Latest studies show that chess helps keep your mind sharp... no matter what your age! And Excalibur's Boris 5 makes playing easy and fun for the entire family. Play whenever you want to your electronic partner is always ready for a game!

- Magnetic sensory board notes your move!
- Remembers a game you want to finish later.
- Piece-storage compartment prevents lost pieces.
- Accommodates either 1 or 2 players.

Model #904

Retail Price $49.95